Is IT putting the brakes on growth?

The digital age is fast becoming the digit-all age with the unrelenting business demand to deliver digital products faster than ever. It's all about out-pacing "the other guy" with innovations that win and retain customers.

The technology's there. The know-how is there. Where's the roadblock? It could be an IT portfolio that's grown unwieldy, costly and difficult to manage.

Don't let IT complexity slow down digital business innovation.

Does digital mean more IT? No, just smarter IT

Delivering for digital demands means your IT organization needs agility: fast answers to digital business challenges and quick decisions on the road forward.

That takes smart IT portfolio management to:

- Keep your IT portfolio clutter-free
- Give clarity on the impact of change
- Balance cost between operations and innovation
- Assure risk is under control
- Create a business-focused IT roadmap

It doesn't have to be complex or time-consuming to make your IT portfolio work smarter for your business.

Which road is right for you?

Standard office software can be a dead end. Spread-out spreadsheets and dated diagrams don't provide transparency or help you identify cross-portfolio conflicts and synergies.

On-premises software takes resources you may not have. It's simply more effort and investment than you're willing to make right now.

Software as a service is low cost and low risk—an ideal starting point for IT portfolio management. That's Alfabet FastLane, easy IT portfolio management in the cloud.
